Divine Noni is not a medicine

Noni is an internationally popular fruit that contains more than 150 nutraceuticals that are required by our body on a daily basis. They are available in the fruit in the right combination and in an absorbable form. Divine Noni is a Noni Drink concentrate and it has health enhancing properties.

Some people misunderstand Divine Noni as a medicine. The Divine Noni is not a medicine. It is a fruit juice concentrate. In other words, it is a fruit supplement for healthy people to stay healthy and for sick people to become healthy with medication. (According to Dr. Ralph Heinicke xeronin Theory Noni helps sick cells to become healthy).

Never substitute Divine Noni fruit juice for medicine or food. It has to be taken as a complement to medicine & food. In fact it helps the body to utilize the medicines and the Micronutrients from the food effectively by its detoxification process. Many sick people find extraordinary results with Divine Noni mainly because of its role in allowing the body to utilise the medicines.

Please share this information with all your team members of the Noni family including the users of Divine Noni.
